AVAIN LABS® Mini Band Sealer FR400

The AVAIN LABS® Mini Band Sealer FR400 is a compact, efficient, and reliable continuous sealing machine designed for professional pouch sealing applications. Built for speed, precision, and durability, this mini band sealer is ideal for sealing plastic bags, laminated pouches, aluminum foil bags, and other heat-sealable packaging materials used in food, retail, pharmaceutical, cosmetic, and industrial industries.

The FR400 features continuous sealing technology that provides strong, airtight, and leak-proof sealing for improved product safety and extended shelf life. Its compact tabletop design makes it perfect for small businesses, shops, home-based packaging units, and commercial operations with limited workspace.

Equipped with adjustable temperature control and smooth sealing operation, the AVAIN LABS® Mini Band Sealer FR400 can efficiently handle different pouch thicknesses and packaging materials. The machine is easy to operate, energy-efficient, and designed for low maintenance, making it an excellent choice for daily packaging needs.

Whether you are packaging snacks, spices, tea, coffee, dry fruits, medicines, or industrial products, the FR400 ensures consistent and professional sealing performance.
